

LINX Acid Reflux Management Procedure

an outpatient surgical procedure to reduce gastro-esophageal acid reflux.

About The Procedure

Gastro-esophageal reflux disease is the leakage of acid and other contents from the stomach into the esophagus, larynx, and/or pharynx. GERD may be associated with heartburn, pain, chronic cough, and a variety of other symptoms, and, if it persists, can lead to esophagitis, stricture, Barrett's esophagus, and even cancer. Treatments for GERD include lifestyle changes, antacids, prescription medication, and surgery, such as laparoscopic Nissen fundoplication. There is also the new LINX procedure, in which a ring of small titanium-clad magnets is positioned around the lower esophagus to reduce reflux.

When considering a LINX procedure, it is important to know that the surgeon who will carry out your surgery has the experience and focus to deliver the quality you want. It is important to know the cost.

Allevion offers a flat-fee LINX surgical bundle that takes into account the experience and focus of the surgeon for faster recovery and fewer complications. Our reflux surgeons are highly qualified. All specialize in gastric reflux surgery and are absolutely committed to service.
